Dear Mrs. Bottis,

As an assistant to the editor for the IEL series on tort law, professor Sophie Stijns, she has asked me to congratulate you with your excellent monograph on Greek tort law. First of all we want to apologize not having contacted you before, but professor Stijns has had some very busy weeks with a trip abroad, a conference, exams and so on. Now she has found the time to read your work and she is delighted with it. You have managed to bring across a clear, yet detailed picture of tort law in your country, as well as, to a certain extent, a comparison with the law of tort(s) of other countries and even some ideas for the future. Regarding your remark on gender issues, being women ourselves, we can only encourage this. So, as far as we are concerned, we have no suggestions to alter the content in any way, which means that the monograph can go to the publisher to prepare a proof. Possible typing faults which remained undetected in your final version, can then be corrected on the proof. If you have any questions or remarks you can always e-mail me on this address or e-mail professor Stijns directly on the following address: Sophie.Stijns@law.kuleuven.ac.be Again we want to thank you and express our great appreciation for your excellent work, which far exceeds the normal.

Yours sincerely,

Sofie Covemaeker
